Waterloo Tyson Wins Award

The Waterloo Tyson Prepared Food cooked meats operation was named the supplier of the year by the parent company of Pizza Hut and Taco Bell. Yum! Brands Inc, based in Louisville, Kentucky owns restaurant brands Taco Bell, Pizza Hut, Kentucky Fried Chicken, and Long John Silvers.

The Tyson Prepared Foods plant employs 180 people and cooks meats for tacos and pizza. The plant general manager, Clifford Wiles, said that he was excited to learn the plant had achieved the honor. "We take great pride in producing millions of pounds of high quality cooked products for top-named food chains". The Tyson Waterloo plant is one of 28 Tyson Foods production facilities in the U.S. that were honored as suppliers of the year.

Congratulations to all!!!

Los Piscines Publicas De Waterloo (Brynes Park and Gates Park) open June 6—cost is .50 for children (4 and under) and $3.00 for children over 4 and adults.

Empresa Latina

Tiendita Guatemalteca sits at 320 Commercial Street in Waterloo, right across the street from the Waterloo Center for the Arts.

The owner, from Guatemala, wanted to bring a little flare of Guatemala to Waterloo. The store has many types of Latin music on CD and many movies on DVD's for sale. They also sell soccer uniforms from across Latin America and Guatemala, so kids can look like their favorite soccer stars. Tiendita Guatemalteca also has handicrafts native of Guatemala, purses and other quaint knick knacks fill the aisles.

In addition to the fresh baked breads and pasteries, they have unique romantic cards in Spanish to send to that certain someone. One thing that this store does different that some other stores is that through the store customers are able to send items to relatives in Mexico or Latin America, whereas others only send money.

Tiendita Guatemalteca is a uniquely Guatemalan experience for everyone and worth the time to stop and look around.
